

Animal Habitats

Write T if the statements about polar habitats are true and F if they are false.

1) Camouflage is a common adaptation used by animals in polar habitats to hide from predators.

2) Polar regions experience long periods of daylight during the winter.

3) Polar regions experience long periods of daylight during the summer.

4) The Arctic and Antarctic polar habitats are the same and have similar wildlife.

5) Both the Arctic and Antarctic regions are located near the equator.

6) Polar bears are commonly found in the Arctic, and they use sea ice as platforms for resting and giving birth.

7) Seals are commonly found in the Arctic, and they use sea ice as platforms for resting and giving birth.

8) The Arctic and Antarctic polar habitats are the same and have similar wildlife.

9) Both the Arctic and Antarctic regions are located near the equator.

10) Walruses are commonly found in the Arctic, and they use sea ice as platforms for resting and giving birth.

Preview

Become a member to unlock unrestricted access to both printable and online worksheets.

www.tutoringhour.com