

Commonly Confused Words

“Accept” is a verb that means “to take something offered” or “to recognize you’re responsible for something”.

Example: I’m prepared to accept the consequences.

“Except” is both a preposition and conjunction, and it introduces the only person, thing, or fact that’s not included in the main statement.

Example: We haven’t told anyone except Leo’s dad.

Com 1) 2) 3) 4) 5) 6)

Preview

Become a member to unlock unrestricted access to both printable and online worksheets.

www.tutoringhour.com

7) The college will _____ Penny.

8) Sophia loved her new apartment, _____ that it was not spacious.

9) Stacy would tell me nothing about what she was writing, _____ that it was to be a Christmas play.

10) Lance was ready to _____ his mistake.