

Prepositions

A prepositional phrase is a group of words that contains a preposition, its object, and its modifiers. It usually modifies a noun or a verb. It is called an adjective phrase when it modifies a noun, and it is known as an adverb phrase when it adds details to a verb.

Example: The puppy is sitting under the mailbox.

Preview

Become a member to unlock unrestricted access to both printable and online worksheets.

www.tutoringhour.com

- Understand
- 1) _____
 - 2) _____
 - 3) _____
 - 4) _____
 - 5) _____
 - 6) I left the house only once during the storm.
 - 7) The brown bag on the table is mine.
 - 8) James read the book with excitement.
 - 9) The rabbits hopped through the garden.
 - 10) The restaurant near my house is the best.