

Subjects and Predicates

The subject is what a sentence is about, and the predicate is the part of the sentence that contains the verb and gives more information about the subject.

Example: Yvonne was playing in the backyard.

Circle the subjects, and underline the predicates.

- 1) Cats love long naps in cozy corners.
- 2) Jake will join college in September.
- 3) Are you going to the concert?
- 4) Melanie and Judith are in Florida.
- 5) Ms. Richardson will take the students to the museum.
- 6) I ate a burger for breakfast.
- 7) Justin walked five miles in the park.
- 8) Gina was playing in the treehouse.
- 9) The dog gave birth to six puppies.
- 10) The cops chased the thieves.

