

True Linking Verbs - Forms of “to be”

A linking verb connects the subject of a sentence to its predicate. Linking verbs do not show any action; some verbs always function as linking verbs; they are called “true linking verbs”.

Example: Oscar is a painter.

Complete each sentence with an appropriate linking verb formed from “to be”.

- 1) Paula _____ at the hospital yesterday.
- 2) Hannah _____ my sister.
- 3) Children _____ a gift from God.
- 4) This _____ a great experience.
- 5) You _____ overly sensitive.
- 6) I _____ a space scientist.
- 7) Archie _____ my pet poodle.
- 8) The party _____ a rage.
- 9) Helen _____ an innovative designer.
- 10) Fred and Amanda _____ nervous before their exams.

True Linking Verbs - Forms of “to be” Answer key

A linking verb connects the subject of a sentence to its predicate. Linking verbs do not show any action; some verbs always function as linking verbs; they are called “true linking verbs”.

Example: Oscar is a painter.

Complete each sentence with an appropriate linking verb formed from “to be”.

- 1) Paula was at the hospital yesterday.
- 2) Hannah is my sister.
- 3) Children are a gift from God.
- 4) This has been a great experience.
- 5) You are being overly sensitive.
- 6) I am a space scientist.
- 7) Archie is my pet poodle.
- 8) The party had been a rage.
- 9) Helen is an innovative designer.
- 10) Fred and Amanda were nervous before their exams.