

Linking Verbs or Copular verbs

A linking verb, also known as a copular verb, connects the subject of a sentence to a noun or adjective in the predicate. Linking verbs don't show any action; they express a state of being.

Example: Ms. Smith sounded optimistic.

Preview

Become a member to unlock unrestricted access to both printable and online worksheets.

www.tutoringhour.com

- 1) _____
- 2) _____
- 3) _____
- 4) _____
- 5) _____
- 6) The man _____ very confident.
- 7) Tammy _____ the tallest girl in her class.
- 8) The fruit salad _____ heavenly.
- 9) Peggy _____ the winner of the triathlon.
- 10) Our kitten _____ clean and fluffy.