

Phrasal Verbs

When we can separate the two words in a phrasal verb and insert the direct object in the middle, it's called a separable phrasal verb.

Example: The store clerk refused to take back the pack of oranges.

The store clerk refused to take the pack of oranges back.

Rewrite each sentence by separating the phrasal verb in it.

1) Helen is leaving behind my number when I travel to Europe.

2)

3)

4) Coach Perez bought pizza and ice cream to cheer up the boys after the loss.

5) Mom asked me to chop up the onions.
