Predictions

Hannah has three chores each morning. Her first chore is making her bed. Her second chore is feeding her dogs, Spot and Spike. Her third chore is packing her lunch for school. On Tuesday, Hannah wakes up late. She will not have time to do all three chores before school. One chore will have to wait until after school.

Hannah thinks about her three chores. She thinks about making her bed, feeding her dogs, and packing her lunch for school. Which chore should she save for after school? What will Hannah do? What do you think happens next?
