

Proverbs

Read the story and answer the questions that follow.

Brent got off the bus and carried his books into school. He had more than usual today because he'd brought books to donate to the book drive. His class was collecting them to send to other countries where kids didn't have many books. As he walked into the school, he tripped. The books tumbled everywhere. Many kids gasped. They asked if he was hurt. They didn't stop to help him, though. Instead, they kept walking. Carol, a girl in his class, stopped to help him. She had brought
