Tana went on a five-day trip to New York City with her mom. Here's a passage showing the timeline of the trip.

On their first day in NYC, Tana and her mom had a picnic, played Frisbee, and went on a boat ride at Central Park. The following day, they went to the Statue of Liberty, learned its history, and got up on its stone pedestal. On the third day, they visited the American Museum of Natural History, where they saw the different exhibits. The day after that, they watched a Broadway show and ate pizzas, hot dogs, and donuts in Times Square. Mom and Tana ate pretzels while watching a game at Yan
