

Sequencing

The paragraphs in the story below are jumbled up. Sequence the story by writing the appropriate numbers to tell which paragraph comes first, which second, and so on.

○ He let go of the kite, and the wind lifted it high into the sky. Dad quickly let out more string. Hudson watched the red-blue kite in the sky. He loved flying a kite.

○ It was just enough wind to make the kite rise into the air. Dad showed Hudson how to tie the string to the kite. Hudson tied the string the way Dad showed him.

○ Hudson stood in the grass at the park. He was excited because today he would get to fly a kite. Hudson had never flown a kite before.

○ He held the kite up high. "Run forward with it," Dad said. "Let the wind catch it!" Hudson did as Dad told him. He lifted the kite until he felt the wind catch it.

○ He could not wait! Dad opened a package and pulled a blue-red kite from inside. The wind was blowing through the trees.
